

Meetings on-the-fly with PHONEWARE

Audio Conferencing

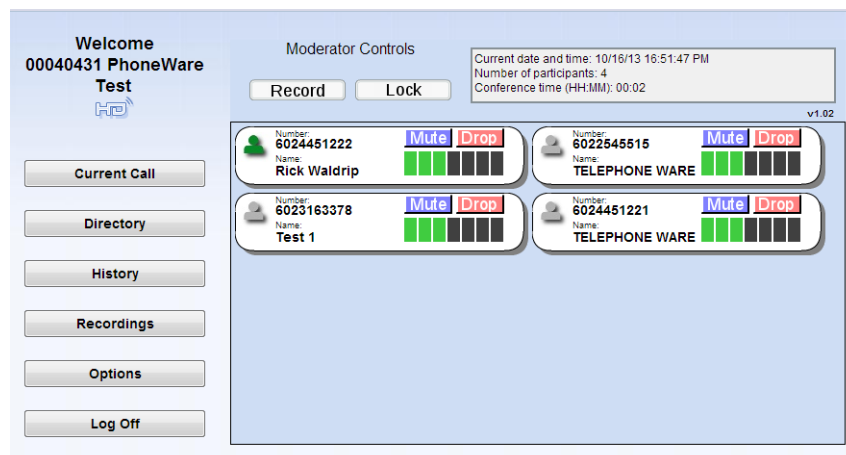

PHONEWARE On-demand audio conferencing is an easy-to-use service to enhance your business productivity. Fast, efficient on-demand audio conferencing from PHONEWARE offers a low cost complete solution capable of hosting up to 500 attendees with no reservations required and no time limits imposed. Simply dial the number of your virtual conference and enter your participant or moderator code. It's that simple!

Take Charge of Your Conferences with Easy-to-Use Features

Once in your virtual conference room, use easy-to-follow audio prompts and a host of features to take complete control of your conference. Use our Moderator Web Interface for even greater functionality and control of features including:

- Recording a Conference— Record your conversations for future review and transcription. Simply initiate system recording through your phone prompt or web interface. At the end of the conference call, your recording will be available in .WAV format for download through your moderator web interface. Easily archive or distribute the audio file via email.
- Muting— Mute all participants for an important announcement or mute selectively as the topic requires.
- Dial In or Dial Out— Schedule a meeting where participants dial in at a specific time or add participants on-the-fly by simply dialing out during the conference.
- Lock and Roll Call Conference Participants— For enhanced security and no interruptions, you may take a roll call of all conference participants and then lock your conference room once all participants are present.
